IT IS NOT A FAST TRACK-MISHAPS AT ONE OF THE TURNS-THE LEAGUE AND THE PRO-FESSIONALS-A CARNIVAL ON THE LAKE.

Asbury Park, N. J., July 11 .- With the races today, runs to Pleasure Bay, Rumson and Seabright, a carnival on Wesley Lake, a grand pyrotechnic display, a meeting of the Board of Trade and a conference between the Board and the officials of the League, cyclists had plenty to do to keep them busy. Yet most of them found time to do some riding upon their wheels, take a dip or two in the cean and eat three hearty meals.

The racing men, however, claimed the attention of almost everybody, and the contests at the new track drew good crowds, in spite of occasional showers. It did not rain enough to spoil the track Additional enthusiasts continue to arrive egistered at headquarters to-day. The first race was started at 10 a.m., instead of 9 o'clock, as advertised, while the starting of the afternoon races was also an hour late. About three thousand people witnessed the preliminary heats, which were run off in the morning, and probably five thousand saw the races were all well contested, and the women of whom a large number were present, evinced the liveliest interest in the struggle of the riders for rich prizes end glory. The costumes of the riders were, in many cases, really handsome, and pretty combinations of colors caught the women's eyes and made the wearers the favorite with the fair sex.

The track is not nearly as fast nor as safe as the experts pronounced it, and the riders will have to wonders if they expect to break many There is a bad break in the lower turn on northwestern corner of the course, and severa bad tumbles occurred. The riders took warning and they generally slowed up when passing this portion of the track. Nearly all the falls occurred at this point to-day, and L. D. Cabanne was so seriously njured that the chances are that he will not b ble to race again this week. He was the only rider, owever, who was severely injured.

AN EXCITING CONTEST.

The appearance of A. A. Zimmerman and Harry Wheeler on a tandem as pacemakers in the professional race evoked round after round of applause yet the professional and tandem races, of which much was expected, were about the worst of the day. The best race of the day was the two-mile National championship, in which both Class A and Class B men were allowed to start. After many heats, the final contest narrowed down to the Class B men, five riders facing the starter. The riders were paced by L. C. and E. C. Johnson for the first mile, which was made in 2:081-5, and the second mile was paced by Mayo and Saunders. The tandems picked the men up in splendid form. Nat Butler won the race, with Arthur Gardner, the Western flyer, second Gardner's friends are dissatisfied. E. Kiser followed the tandem for the first mile, with Gardner, second. Coulder third and first mile, with Gardner second, Coulter third and Butler fourth. Terrill fell at the first attempt to pass the bad spot, and he did not finish. Butler did not forge to the front until the last lap, when a tremendous spurt for the finish was made. The men came down the stretch nip and tuck, and crossed the rope so close together that it required the decision from the judges to decide the

The members of the Board of Trade met this fternoon, but nothing except routine matters was discussed. To-night the conference between the L. A. W. and the Board of Trade was held at the Coleman House. A. G. Spalding, R. T. Coleman and C. W. Dickinson represented the Board, and A. C. Willison, George D. Gideon and G. A. Perkins looked after the interests of the League of American Wheelman. The conference larged until a large looked after the interests of the League of American Wheelmen. The conference lasted until a late hour. The L. A. W. will assume charge of professionalism, and the Board of Trade will stand behind it.

O. S. Bonnell, of Philadelphia, has been in consultation with President Willison and Chairman Gideon, of the Racing Board, and he will act as a sort of agent for the L. A. W. in professional racing matters.

WESLEY LAKE CARNIVAL.

The annual carnival on Wesley Lake to-night, which had been postponed several weeks in honor of the wheelmen, was witnessed by thousands, and it was a spectacle worth going a long distance and it was a spectacle worth going a long distance to see. The boats were decorated with streamers, flags and Japanese lanterns. The pyrotechnic display was fine. Handsome prizes were awarded to the boats making the best display.

RACING BOARD BULLETIN. Riders are warned that the L. A. W., through its Riders are warned that the L. A. W., through its Racing Board, has sole jurisdiction over all cycle racing in the United States. The erroneous idea prevails among those who are uninformed that the Board enforces its rules only against members of the League. All riders in the United States are classified as amateurs of Class A or B, or as professionals, in accordance with the League's definitions of such classes, and so soon as a rider enters a competitive event he becomes subject to the supervision of the Racing Board. Any rider competing in unsanctioned events, amateur or professional, will be promptly suspended from all track-racing.

COMING ENTERTAINMENTS AT THE M. A. C. Senator Cantor is preparing some brisk entertainlub. . He has decided upon a semi-monthly smoker, athletic specialties of a high order. The opening entertainment will be offered next Tuesday evening, July 16. The next boxing bout will be held in ing. July 16. The next boxing bout will be held in the gymnasium on Tuesday, July 25, and a strong card is being arranged. "I am aware," said Senator Cantor, "that the unfortunate quarrels of previous managers of the club have had a discouraging effect on the members, but there is no longer reason for them to feel that way. I desire to state emphatically that the club is open and will remain so. My sole object and determination is again to place the 'Cherry Diamond' on a solid footing."

WORK ON THE PANAMA CANAL.

T. LE CONNEC, RESIDENT DIRECTOR AT COLON. TELLS OF ITS CONDITION. Three passengers on the Columbian Line steamship

Alliança, from Colon, yesterday were T. Le Connec, resident director of the Panama Canal at Cunningham, a civil engineer, who has been all over the ground of the Panama and Nicaragua canals. The party is stopping at the Imperial Hotel.
Mr. Le Connec does not speak English. His secretary, however, can talk for him. Both he and his secretary were out last evening, and could not be seen. Mr. Cunningham, however, was seen at the New-York Club late in the evening, and he talked about the work that is being done on the Panama Canal. He said:
"I have no interest in the canal at all save from an engineering point of view. I was all over the canal about a week ago in a tug with the members of the Nicaragua Canal Commission. Of course, I of the Nicaragua Canal Commission. Of course, I cannot speak for them They will make their report to the Government, and expressed no opinion of what they aw. I believe that their papers did not call for an inspection of the Panama Canal, and that it was purely voluntary on their part. They must be in Mobile now, if they carried out the plans mapped out when I saw them.

"As for the canal itself, it is in excellent shape.

They are preparing now to go to work as soon as the dry season commences on the Isthmus, which is about January i. They are getting out their rolling stock dredges and so on, and getting them in shape for renewed work.
"The canal, when completed, will be about seventy-seven kilometres in length. Of this distance, about one-third has been built. In company with about one-third has been built. In company with the members of the Nicaragua Canal Commission. I went over the canal on a tug. I found the canal in excellent condition.

The main work outlined is at Calebra, or the Big Cut. Here 25,000,000 cubic yards of earth are to be moved. A dredge is at work in Panama Bay, at La Boca. That is about the only work being done. The Panama Canal, however, is entirely practical, from an engineering point of view, and what has been completed has been done thoroughly.

what has been completed has been done thoroughly."

Mr. Cunningham was asked what he thought about the statements that had been made that a canal was impracticable in Nicaragua, for the reason that a harbor could never be built at Greytown. He said:

"That may be. I don't want to say anything of that kind because a regular commission has been down there going over the ground and they will report, and I do not care to anticipate or clash with their finding. There is one thing, however, I will say, and that is that engineers can never tell anything about shifting sands and that is the delustee point about the Greytown harbor. The completion of the Panama Canal is practical, but some one besides myself must pass upon the financial and diplomatic details of the construction of the cana. It is said that the main object of Mr. Le Connec's visit to the United States is to visit Chicago in the interest of the canal. It is said that some Chicago capitalists are interested in the project. Mr. Le Connec will also look at some improved dredges and other machinery used on the canal, during his visit.

DROWNED HIMSELF IN THE RESERVOIR. Aaron D. Young, a cigarmaker, forty-six years Aaron D. Young, a cigarmaker, forty-six years old, of No. 305 East Seventieth-st., committed suicide on Wednesday night or early yesterday morning by jumping into the large reservoir of Central Park. About 5 o'clock yesterday morning two reservoir keepers found a coat and hat in the roadway near the reservoir. They supposed that some one had committed suicide, and began to dredge the reservoir for the body, which they found in the afternoon. The body was identified by cards found in the man's coat pocket. Young had been acting strangely for some time and is believed to have been lissane.

MONACO WINS THE NAUTILUS STAKES IN A

DRIVE BY A HEAD. clared to be the winner some sharp remarks were made, and there was more or less hissing. There is head. Reiff on Article drew the finish too fine, and lost the race, as well as a large sum of money

An absurd story went the rounds just before the last race about Iola and her jockey. It was said that R. Doggett was named to ride the Oneck filly, and this caused the layers of odds to quote filly, and this caused the layers of our to question odds against her chances, which were eagerly snapped up by shrewd commissioners. After the money was placed Samuel Doggett was announced as Iola's jockey. Such a report is manufactured to the state of the state o deious, as Iola was entered at 107 pounds, so that Samuel Doggett could ride her, and nearly everybody at the track knew it. Moreover, R. Doggett had left the track before the race. If R. Doggett's name was sent in as the rider of Iola it was the mistake of the men who furnish the jockey slips, so that nobody associated with the Oneck stable is in any manner to blame for the reports.

The stewards box should be reserved for the stewards, and everybody else should be kept out of it while the races are being run. This applies to men associated with the betting ring, who fre quently exhibit themselves in places they should avoid. A little quiet detective work might develop the fact that men who guarantee the value of the purse to certain owners are not a desirable ele-

Then there are certain jockeys who are no suspicion, and should be carefully looked after by the stewards. Their conduct has been so flagrant that it is common talk that races are manipulated in the interests of a well-known plunger and a few men who lay the odds. Personal opinion as to the class or capabilities of any horse should not blind the men who should be the watch-dogs of the turf to the flagrant carelessness or indifferent riding of certain jockeys whose names are on the tongues of the heavy bettors, as well as the Brighton faced women, who are close observers of racing. Under the new order of things on the turf there should be prompt, energetic action taken to suppress even the appearance of fraud in races. The moment that anybody is hauled before the stewards to be punished, an army of men who act as counsel for the defence springs up to aid the delinquents. All that the public asks is justice, and to be protected from the evil element that profits by fraud and the vennilty of trainers and jockeys.

The racing yesterday was excellent, and Dortan proved himself to be as fast at a mile as any other norse that has race 4 this year, except Domino. It requires a high-class horse to run a mile in 1:80½ over any track; yet Dorlan accomplished the feat yesterday, although he was interfered with twice in the race. In the first race J. O. Donner, who poses as an expert in the nomenclature of horses, started a colt called Silk. Everybody who bet on him was unanimous in the opinion that he should have been called Shoddy when he looked for a hole in the fence half way down the homestretch.

In the last race Ameer, who has been bottled up for a grand coup, was plunged on by all the knowing ones at the track. Fannie R. easily disposed of his pretensions, and Second Attempt barred him out of second place. Monaco, who was heavily played to with the fourth race, barely escaped defeat by Paladin, who ran a splendid race.

FOOTE AND LARNED WIN. THEIR CHANCES GOOD TO CAPTURE THE CANA-DIAN CHAMPIONSHIP TENNIS CUP. Niagara, Ont., July 11 (Special).-Foote and Larned were the winners in to-day's singles in the Canadian tennis championship, and to-morrow will see them pitted against each other in the final round. The winner will then meet R. W. P. Mathews, of the Toronto Tennis Club, who is the present holder of the championship cup, on Saturday. Mathews is not in good form this season, and either of the American players should have no difficulty in taking the trophy from him. Larned won his way into the finals to-day by defeating Gordon Mackenzle, of Toronto, in two easy sets, and following it up by a victory over E. P. Fischer, of the West Side Tennis Club, New-York, in which he developed some of the best tennis he has shown since striking Canadian soil. Foote reached the same round by defeating

DR. WELLES TELLS HIS STORY.

HE REVIEWS HIS TROUBLES WITH THE WOOD-HULL MARTINS TO CORRECT ALLEGED

Dr. Charles S. Welles, of No. 142 West Ninetyfourth-st., regarding whose differences with Mr. and Mrs. Martin (Victoria Woodhull) and Miss Woodhull in the house at No. 302 West Seventyond-st. much has been published, said to a re porter yesterday:

porter yesterday:

It is quite true that I had acted for the last two years as the New-York manager of the Woodhulis' magazine. Having disagreed with them as to the arrangements in the Seventy-second-st, house, I have begun a suit for $2,750 back salary, and my wife has also instituted another sait against Mrs. Woodhull-Martin for destruction and conversion of perrangements in the Seventy-second-st. Indeed, rangements in the Seventy-second-st. Indeed, with has also instituted another suit against Mrs. Woodhull-Martin for destruction and conversion of personal property which she had failed to make good to Mrs. Welles. Upon the arrival of the Woodhull-Martins from London, June 8, and no disposition having been shown by them to adjust the differences and to separate amicably, I caused a sheriff to take possession of the furniture in the Seventy-second-st. house and also to attach a flat building of the Martins in Eighty-fourth-st.

The Woodhulls then attempted, as sole tenants, to dispossess us from the house, the lease, in a partnership agreement, having been taken in Miss Woodhull's rame.

This proceeding failing, the Woodhulls then made cause with the landlord to help them, not being able in any other manner to break their contracts with my wife and myself.

The landlord then began a dispossess against the whole house, styling Miss Woodhull as tenant and us as sub-tenants, when he well knew of the other dispossess having failed upon that ground, and that we were not sub-tenants, but partners in the lease. Upon this attempt of the Woodhulls to permit the lease to lapse, we began two other suits, one for breach of contract of the house partnership, and the other for damages in the conspiracy to break up my office and medical practice, so that there are now four suits pending against the Woodhulls. It was to maintain these causes of action solely that I resisted the dispossess instituted by the landlord, on a charge of his collusion with the Woodhulls, and when the dispossess proceeding be accomplished as a part of the convenience of my patients, until the warrant of eviction should be actually served and the disposses proceeding be accomplished as a part of the convenience of my patients, until the warrant of eviction should be actually served and the disposses proceeding be accomplished as a part of the convenience of my patients, until the warrant of eviction my medical

BEFORE GOOD GOVERNMENT CLUB G.

POLICE COMMISSIONERS ROOSEVELT AND PARKER MAKE ADDRESSES-LAWS TO BE HON-

ESTLY ENFORCED. Theodore Roosevelt, president of the Board of Police Commissioners, delivered an address before Good Government Club G, in their clubrooms, No. 758 Eighth-ave., last night. Before Commissioner Roosevelt arrived the club held an informal meeting at which general topics pertaining to municipal reform were discussed. The president of the Police Board, accompanied by Commissioner Parker, ar-rived at 9:30 o'clock, and both officials were loudly heered as they entered the room. When Mr. Roosevelt rose to speak he got a cor-

When Mr. Roosevelt rose to speak he got a cordial reception. He said in part:

The chief trouble with me since I have joined the ranks of the laboring classes is, that I have not been able to work forty-eight hours a day.

I don't know politics or religion in the question of promotion. If a man faithfully discharges his duty and is capable of higher deeds, he will receive recognition. But, if a man is had, he goes. In one year we propose to make the police force the rishful pride of the whole city.

I have been a good deal amused at people who have attributed to me some dark, sinister design in the enforcement of the Excise laws. Every day the principal of equity alone has appealed to me. All we can do is to put the law through as we find it, when the law is not obsolete at all, but enforced only against the man without a pull. Under the old Hoard, arrests on Sundays were greater than under the new Board. There is just this difference: Under the old Tammany Police Board the men arrested were the saloon-keepers without a pull. With us, the men arrested are precisely those who did have a pull. The rich man, who owned six or eight saloons, escaped, because the owner was a member of the General Committee, or had a brother on it. But we have treated that man as the poorest of his compeers, and have shown him that in the United States there is one law for rich and poor.

that in the United States there is one law for rich and poor.

We are not uneasy over threats. We are having a very good time. We are not nervous over the future, because we don't give a rap for it. We were put in office to secure the enforcement of the laws. We are going to win, on the foundation of common honesty and common manliness, and I am certain that, in the long run, the great class of decent American citizens will insist on the enforcement of the laws with honesty and entire impartiality, with entire obedience to the law of the land. Commissioner Parker followed President Roose velt with a brief speech, in which he declared that he hoped Tammany would make its issue in the coming campaign on the enforcement of the Excise laws. He said that where the organization would gain one vote on this issue, it would lose two.

SIXTEEN INNINGS AND A TIE.

Louisville, July 11.-Louisville and Boston to-day played the longest and most remarkable game of played the longest and most remarkable game of the season. It was ended by darkness, after sixteen innings, with the score a tie. The game was hard fought, and exciting from the start. Both pitchers were in splendid form, but Dolan was batted the more freely. He was doubled up by a batted ball in the eighth inning, but pluckly found the ball and sent it to first in time to catch Spies. The special features were Tucker's twenty-four put-outs and a single hand catch of a high fly by Duffy. McCarthy and Spies were taken out and fined for engaging in a lively spat in the four-teenth inning. Attendance, 1,500. The score:

Basehits-Louisville 10, Boston 11, Errors-Louisville Boston 4, Batteries-McDermott and Warner; Dolan az Ryan, Umpire-McDonaid.

GAMES IN OTHER CITIES.

Chicago, July 11.—Chicago was an "easy thing" for the champions to-day. The home team could do nothing with Hemming, and he received magnificent support. Hutchison was knocked out of the box in the second inning. Thornton was put in to finish the game, and he received very poor support. Attendance, 7,000. The score:
